SIR.

In accordance with the provisions of Act 64 Vict., No. 1669, I have the honour to forward herewith, for presentation to Parliament, the first completed portion of the Abstracts made from the returns of the Census of Victoria, 1901, entitled "Part I.—Inhabitants and Houses."

It was the custom at every previous Census to furnish such general information respecting Inhabitants and Houses as could conveniently be obtained by the ordinary method of Sheet Tabulation for every division of the State. But at this Census a "Household Card" was used for the first time, which enabled particulars to be readily arranged according to the material of dwelling, the number of rooms, and the number of persons living therein, in such combinations and detail as had never before been attempted; and also provided for the tabulation, for the first time, of information concerning the occupations of heads of households, the number of servants kept, and the number dependent on each head of a household—thus giving a mass of information, the value of which will, it is hoped, more than compensate for the extra time and trouble involved. Although full details for every municipality, or portion of a municipality, within each county have been abstracted and are available for reference, if required, only the more important particulars have been selected for publication. The detailed particulars, so selected, for Counties—the permanent Geographical Divisions of the State—and for Municipalities—the Communal Divisions—will, however, probably be found ample for most purposes; as also will the information given for Electoral Districts and the minor Divisions of the State, which is restricted to the total population (distinguishing sexes), the numbers of Chinese and Aborigines, and the number of Inhabited Dwellings; also, in some cases, the number of Houses Unoccupied or This rule of giving detailed particulars only for counties and municipalities will be followed in dealing with the subsequent "Parts" of the Census. Another feature of the returns of this Part of the Census, as compared with the previous one, is the entire separation of particulars relating to Inhabited Dwellings. from those relating to Houses Unoccupied or Being Built.

In Victoria there are 37 counties, and these have been grouped in this work in 8 Territorial Districts. viz., the Central (C.) District, embracing 4 counties around Melbourne; the North Central (N.C.), embracing 3 counties situated north of the Central District; the Western (W.), containing 9 counties in the south-western portion of the State; the Wimmera (Wim.), with 3 counties, to the north of the last-named; then the Mallee (M.), with 4 counties, in the north-western corner of the State; the Northern (N.), with 5 counties, to the north of the North-Central District, near the Murray River; the North-Eastern (N.E.), with 4 counties, in the north-eastern portion of the State, north of the Dividing Range; and the Gippsland (G.), with 5 counties, in the eastern portion of the State, south of the Dividing Range. The Municipalities, Electoral Districts, and Electoral Provinces have also been arranged in similar order. A statement is given after the Table of Contents, showing the position in the tables of every county or municipality.

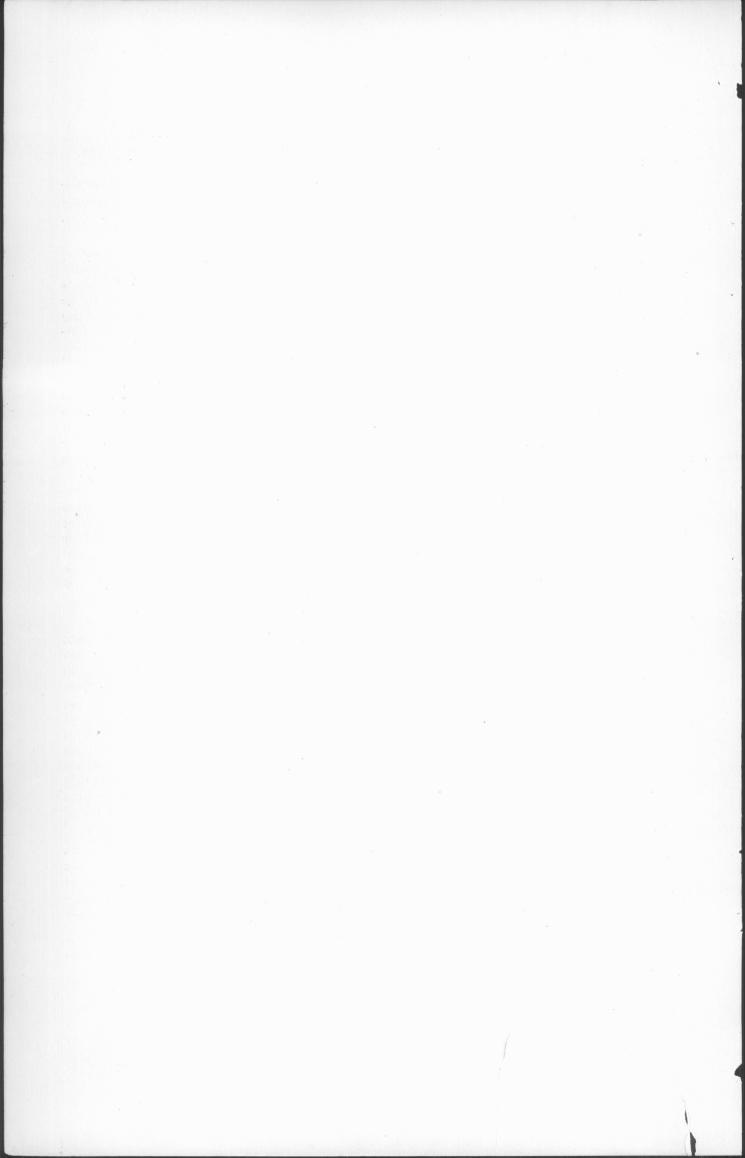

The Census "Parts" will contain merely the tabulated results of the Census of 1901, without any computations, or references* to former enumerations; but after their compilation has been completed, it is intended to prepare a General Report upon the Census, accompanied by a series of supplementary tables containing percentages and comparisons with previous Censuses, together with such other information of an instructive or interesting character, as could not be embodied in the general tabulations.

I have the honour to be,
Sir,
Your most obedient Servant,

JAMES J. FENTON, Government Statist.

The Honorable the Chief Secretary of Victoria.

* An exception has been made in the case of the Divisions of Electoral Provinces and Districts.

The migratory population is made up of the number of persons known to have escaped enumeration, owing to their having changed their residences between the time of the Schedules being deposited and the time they should have been collected. No attempt has been made to form an estimate of uncommercated persons of whose existence no definite information was obtained.

† Caulfield was a Shire at the date of the Census; it was, however, created a Borough shortly afterwards, viz., on the 13th April, 1902. In these returns it is classed amongst the Cities, Towns, and Boroughs.

† The Migratory population is made up of the number of persons known to have escaped enumeration, owing to their having changed their residences between the time of the Schedules being deposited and the time they should have been collected. No attempt has been made to form an estimate of unenumerated persons of whose existence no definite information was obtained.

Note.—Householders employing only domestic servants were not regarded as "employers." All professional men (such as doctors, clergymen, barristers, &c.) are considered as "on own account"; as also are householders returned as of "No occupation."—the inference being that they were of "Independent means." If the grade was unspecified, the person is assumed to have been a "Wage-earner," unless there was some indication to the contrary on the schedule. Ordinary pensioners were regarded as "Wage-earners"; but "Old-age pensioners," returned as "Householders," were not tabulated under any of the grades, but were placed in a group by themselves.

* The grade "Not at work" refers to persons who were "not at work for more than a week prior to the Census, and not on leave of absence."
† The following are the particulars of the Households from which the Head was absent on the Census night, distinguishing those of which the residence of the absent Head was in Victoria, out of Victoria, or unspecified:

Note.—The term "domestic servant" is here restricted to persons paid for performing special or general household duties, whether in private houses, hotels, boarding houses, or public institutions.

This and the following tables of servants relate only to cases where servants were resident with their employer's household on the Census night. It is known, however, that in several cases where servants were kept they slept elsewhere, but the number of such cases is unknown.

In many special establishments, such as Gaols, Lunatic and Benevolent Asylums, the immates to a large extent assist with domestic duties, and hence the number of hired servants is small.

* Parties of persons living together, but not of the same family, such as Mates in their work, Barracks (either Police or Military), and Firemen's Quarters, are included in this line.
